The work of Joan Steele and Roy Blyfield.

Special thanks to

Dr Helen Newman

Biographies

Kean University School of Art and Design

Local initiatives, with community voices in Loyalty Fund to continue the re-equation. More recently, Kean has received funding from the Heritage

Foundation's Young Scholars program.

Carnegie Corporation of New York, in addition to the Indiana Humanities

Council. The New York Times, among others, has also recognized Kean's contributions to the community.

Kean University's mission is to provide a graduate education that prepares students

for the workforce of the 21st century.

Kean University's mission is to provide a

graduate education that prepares students

for the workforce of the 21st century.

Kean University's mission is to provide a

graduate education that prepares students

for the workforce of the 21st century.

Kean University's mission is to provide a

graduate education that prepares students

for the workforce of the 21st century.

Kean University's mission is to provide a

graduate education that prepares students

for the workforce of the 21st century.